

Something Has To Give.

music & lyrics by Kim Banffy

I know you care, deep inside of you.

And I know you're there, deep inside of you,

But I can't go on being strong.

They say the heart has a private room,

Where only one can share the depths of you

And in that room you share theirs too.

But I can't go on being strong

Because love's a two-way street.

It's been so long since I caught a glimpse of you.

'Been holding strong, hoping love would shine on through

But you're hiding there inside that room.

I've learned to hide & pretend that I'm okay

But I died inside and I know that's not my way.

I want to feel connection too.

And I can't go on being strong.

Won't you open up the door?

You're holding out.

What's it about?

Nothing to do with me,

I see.

And I can't go on being strong,

No I can't go on...

Something has to give.

2014 All rights reserved. Unauthorized reproduction, renting, public performance and broadcasting of this record without prior permission of the copyright owner prohibited. Proudly independently produced. All artwork by Kim Banffy.