

State Of Bliss

music & lyrics by Kim Banffy

If all the things of men were gone and we were left here standing
You know we'd still be blessed, cause all the things' are best
Would carry on; the sun would rise & warm us, the trees still whisper truth
And dancing would still set us free.

When at night the sun had gone, we'd join the stars in song.
So dance as if no one can see and sing with all your heart,
Love & it will cast out fear, with grateful thanks to those who're near,

Love is where you make it...heaven's really here.

Can't you feel that we are one with all that lives & breathes here?
Stop your mind & rest, and feel you heart's truth lest
You have no fun...the sun will rise & warm us, the trees still whisper truth
And dancing will still set us free.

When at night the sun has gone we'll join the stars in song.
So dance as if no one can hear and sing with all your heart,
Love & it will cast out fear, with grateful thanks to those who're near,
Love is where you make it...heaven's really here.
